N. C. COUNTIES FREE OF CATTLE TUBERCULOSIS

RALEIGH, N. C., July 25.—Several North Carolina counties have been listed as areas where cattle tuberculosis practically has been eliminated, according to a report received here from the acting secretary of agriculture. Mr. Fugate lists the counties in various states of the country where the disease has been eliminated, in accordance with a recent amendment of the Federal regulations on the subject.

As a result of the amended regulations the restrictions imposed on counties where the disease still is prevalent. No cattle may be taken into these areas in the future. It is announced unless they come from an accredited herd or have passed a satisfactory tuberculin test.

Counties in North Carolina approved as free of the disease are, Scotland, Rowan, Pender, New Hanover, Davis, Davidson, Cumberland, Cabarrus, Buncombe, and Forsythe.

FILES GOVERNMENT BILL

(By The Associated Press.)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 25.—Following a long distance telephone conversation with the attorney general's office in Washington United States District Attorney A. C. McLane, filed in the United States district court here this afternoon the bill asking that the sale of the Old Hickory Powder plant to the Nashville Industrial Corporation and asking that it be set aside on the ground of alleged fraud.

The attorney general states that the bill does not charge or intimate fraud upon the part of any of the present officials of the Nashville Industrial Corporation. The bill asks that receivers be appointed to take over control, manage or resell the property. The litigation is understood under the plans of the DuPont, DeMunnis interests to locate a new gun plant on the property of other developments there.

BAPTISTS DIRECT EFFORTS TOWARD 6 YOUNG PEOPLE

STOCKHOLM, July 25.—Plans for coordinating the efforts of the Baptist young people of the world in such a manner as will afford them an opportunity to make an impact upon the social, political, economic and industrial problems as well as the religious life of the world were considered at a special conference of representatives of the young people's work in various lands in connection with the Baptist World Alliance here this afternoon, this conference being the feature of the afternoon program Dr. Arthur Dakin of London was chairman of the conference while the conference speaker was Dr. James Asa White, of Chicago, general secretary of the Baptist Young People's Union of America.

There are 11,568,434 members of Baptist churches in the world today, Dr. White reported, and of this number 3,349,481 reside in the United States of America. A considerable portion of the Baptists of the world are young people, the speaker said, and the object of the conference was declared to be the consideration of the advisability of projecting some kind of world organization that would embrace all these young people.

Work among the young people has grown at a marvelous rate in recent years in those sections of the world where there is an adequate direction and an abundant supply of organizational materials, Dr. White said, while in other sections there is need of organization material. One of the purposes of a world organization would be to assist the needy areas in supplying leadership and materials. The unsettled state of mind that has prevailed since the world war has made young people along with others, subject to all sorts of propaganda, many of them calculated to draw young people away from personal religion and church loyalty. The speaker pointed out. He urged that the Baptist young people of the world be enlisted in the principles of education, of Christian stewardship and in expensional activity. Great streams of energy are going to waste because they are undirected, the churches are urged, that the best things in life if they are reached with the right ideals and properly enlisted, it was declared.

George Mitchell Is Nominated to Succeed Garrett

MARTINSVILLE, Va., July 25.—George L. Mitchell, a prosperous Henry county farmer of the Irishburg section and a leader in the co-operative marketing movement was nominated here this afternoon to succeed Hon. J. W. Ramsey in the state House of Delegates from Henry county. Mr. Mitchell defeated Mr. J. W. Booker Sr. of Virginia to aspire publicly for a seat in the legislature who was also nominated and who gave the male candidate a good race. G. L. Mitchell and Dr. E. F. Holland of Spencer were also nominated. Mrs. Booker who on Tuesday issued a statement in which she said "with no apologies for being a woman" respectfully request that she be nominated in this contest as a candidate for the House of Delegates, was placed in nomination by B. M. Townes. On the first ballot there was a scattered return none of the candidates having a necessary majority. On the second ballot, however, Mr. Mitchell was declared elected as he had 58 votes to Mrs. Booker's 43. Following the usual course the nomination of Mr. Mitchell was made unanimous.

CHARGE THAT HEARST BOUGHT KLAN PAPERS

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 25.—Charges that documents belonging to the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., had been "wrongfully and unlawfully" bought for $50,000 by a representative of Hearst International Magazine, were made and denied in Federal court today during argument in the Klan's suit to have the magazine enjoined from publishing them. Judge Winthrop reserved decision.

Counsel for the Klan said that the papers were taken from Klan offices in Atlanta, Ga. to be used to discredit the society.

Martin W. Littleton, for the magazine, said the articles, written by Norman Hapgood, were based on material secured from the department of justice which has been investigating the Klan.

Man's Letters Say Death Better Than Life Without Love

BY MILTON BRONNER
(Special to The Bee)

LONDON, July 25.—"Died for love." These three significant words could truly be carved upon the tombstone of young Angus Patrick Bowes-Lyon who started all social London the other day. He had almost everything to live for. He was young, handsome and rich. He had had a fine career in one of the crack regiments of the King's Guards. He had been highly successful in business. He excelled as a polo player, golfer and dancer. He was an unimpeachable social position, being cousin of the beautiful girl who recently became Duchess of York.

In fact, the good fairies had seemed to give him everything—except the love of beautiful Alfredda May Parsons.

And love spelled death for him. He chose death rather than a life without love.

It is always said, by the cynical that men and women die of broken hearts only in sloppy novels. But hearts only in sloppy novels. In the sober courtroom of a London coroner the other day a mourning father brokenly explained to the officials that if his son killed himself, it was for love and for no other reason. As he painedly put it, while tears streamed down the faces of the young man's friends:

"His heart was broken and that was all."

And all the time the father was testifying there sat in the courtroom dressed in black the young beauty who said "No." She was sent for in case the coroner wanted to ask her on any questions. She was never put to the witness stand, but she had on the coroner's last letter to him read aloud. According to all the testimony the young man paid ardent suit to the girl and was at last accepted. Then she wrote him a letter breaking off the engagement.

Among other things she wrote: "Mother don't think I ought to marry if I am not really in love with you."

"She does not think I could make you happy."

"After all that has happened I do not love you."

He was unwilling to take this as final. He made repeated, but unsuccessful attempts to see her. Then when he became convinced she did not care to meet him again, he dressed in his evening clothes, took his car, drove to a lonely road outside of London and shot himself.

Miss Parsons is prominent in London society and is noted for her beauty and her fine dancing. Her mother is a prominent club woman.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—A thorough investigation of the affairs of E. L. Dollings Company and its subsidiaries, now in the hands of receivers and the conduct of the officials of the Dollings Company, "who have made possible the gigantic frauds which have been perpetrated on so many people of this state," was tonight requested by State Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, in a letter to John R. King, prosecuting attorney of Franklin county.

Mr. Crabbe in his letter said that "I shall insist that those responsible for robbing the people of Ohio out of nearly $300,000 be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law." Mr. Crabbe stated that "the majority of the stockholders will receive little or nothing from these defunct concerns."

SHANGHAI, July 25.—Four Americans are under arrest in China charged with implication in an alleged plot for the wholesale smuggling of arms into China from Russia and Japan.

Lawrence H. Kearney, for whom a warrant was issued July 9, charged with being the head of the plot was arrested at Chinghai, a seaport, and brought here today and placed in prison. His bail was fixed at $5,000.

C. V. Stein, arrested by American consular agents in connection with the same alleged plot is being brought to Shanghai, it was alleged.

Kearney formerly was head of the now defunct firm Kearney and company, produce importers. It is alleged he bought 60,000 Russian and Japanese rifles from the Russian refugee fleet, which put in here last December. The refugees recently arrived in San Francisco.

The warrant for Kearney's arrest, which was issued by the American authorities here, was sworn out under the terms of which persons charged with smuggling war materials are tried in consular courts. It is charged Kearney used his former produce firm as a blind for importing arms.

The arrest of Stein is a new development in the case. He is said to have been ambassador to Chang Tso-Lin, Manchuria military leader. Stein's wife was arrested in Shanghai July 11, and charged with being implicated in the same plot. Authorities said a search of her apartment revealed many letters and telegrams incriminating her. More letters and telegrams were found in the office of a Shanghai sports paper, which Mrs. Stein has been conducting in the absence of her husband.

J. J. Maloney, another American, and prominent as base ball player and sports writer, also is under arrest in connection with the case.

GRETNNA NEWS NOTES.

GRETNNA, July 25.—Sunday evening was Sunday School Day at the M. E. church. The church was filled to its capacity and many were left on the outside. The program was interesting and much enjoyed by all.

Fourth quarterly conference will be held at Zion church near Gretna Saturday, August 4. A series of meetings will follow the conference at this church.

G. R. Bishop, who is connected with the Southern depot here was bitten by a spider Friday evening from which he suffered intensely during Friday night and Saturday. He began improving very rapidly Sunday and is able to be out again at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ramsey, Mrs. R. H. Shelton, Mrs. W. L. Bailey and Miss Belle Wooding are among those attending the Roanoke Baptist Association at Averett College, Danville, Va. Mrs. Ramsey and Mrs. Shelton returned Friday from Kentucky Baptist church where they attended a training school for Christian workers.

Willie C. Anderson, of Kansas City, Mo., who attended a photographers conference at Washington, D. C. last week, is visiting friends and relatives at Gretna and Elmhurst. He will leave for Missouri this afternoon.

C. A. Lewis who has been quite ill at his home on Franklin boulevard for more than two weeks continues ill and there has been but little change in his condition.

Chas. E. Pearson, of Callands, spent Saturday and Sunday in Gretna, having stopped here on his way home from Danville.

W. G. Holt, of Mullins, W. Va., and Mrs. Fannie Holt of Gretna were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Motley.

T. H. Hines and wife of Greensboro, N. C., are visiting G. H. Hines of Gretna and G. W. Hines of Renan. Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Powell and son, Lewis, and W. C. Mayhew have returned from an auto trip to Richmond, Washington, Luray and other places of interest in the valley of Virginia.

Miss Laura McHaney and sister Mrs. S. Jennings of Durham, N. C., were guests of Mrs. G. H. Franklin last week.

The much needed concrete walk on Washington avenue from Leftwich to Henry streets will soon be completed. This walk will soon be continued on from Henry street to the Gretna high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillian McClure of Apopka, Fla., who have been on a visit of ten days to friends and relatives in and near Gretna, left Friday.

North Wilkesboro. George Dyer, Jr., and two others, Frances and Edna, of Salisbury, N. C., are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Feagans, on Main street.

An addition is being made to the postoffice on Main street which is much needed.

The large brick warehouse which is being erected here by the Co-operative Association is expected to be completed for the coming tobacco season which will doubtless open about the latter part of September. This will be quite a large and expensive proposition to be completed in such a short length of time. The building when completed will afford ample room for a large quantity of tobacco as well as for the farmers' stock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whitaker of Lynchburg were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Whitaker.

Little Caroline Whitaker is reported quite ill.

Miss Virginia Fitzgerald has returned to Jefferson hospital, Roanoke, after spending several weeks with relatives.

L. W. Wither, Jr., has returned to Richmond, Va. to resume his work at the Richmond Trust Co., having spent two weeks vacation at his home in Gretna.

Max Spiegel Gone From Sanitarium

Creditors for $1,250,000 Hear He Has Been Seen in New York—Forged Checks Turn Up.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Harold P. Coffin, referee in the bankruptcy case of Max Spiegel, who entered a sanitarium after falling in his theatrical enterprises for more than $1,250,000, announced at a creditors' meeting yesterday that he had received an anonymous communication, saying that Spiegel had left the sanitarium and had been seen about the city. Mr. Coffin intimated that steps may be taken to "determine if Spiegel really is insane." Mr. Coffin said that forged checks for $102,745 had appeared.

The meeting of the creditors in the Federal District Court to consider the offer of Mrs. Mitchell H. Mark, mother-in-law of Spiegel, to pay creditors $350,000 in settlement for all the claims against her son-in-law. Mr. Coffin discussed with Joseph Otterburg, attorney for the trustee, the possibility that Spiegel might be released from the sanitarium. Mrs. Mark had settled his claims with creditors, such settlement forestalling possible action in connection with the alleged forged checks and spurious securities.

"I received an anonymous communication this morning stating that 'Spiegel is about the city,'" said Mr. Coffin.

"I have also heard that," asserted Mr. Otterburg. "A keeper has him under surveillance, I am informed.

"Is there any federal or state law the trustee can invoke to determine if he is really insane?" asked Mr. Coffin.

"Yes," answered Mr. Otterburg. "Under the Connecticut law we could have an investigation through regular trial."

Another creditors' meeting is to be held on September 11. Spiegel was committed to a sanitarium in Stamford, Conn., on application of his relatives, after he had been pronounced insane by four alienists. Mr. Coffin learned. He entered the sanitarium just before bankruptcy proceedings began.

The trustee's list of Spiegel's liabilities as given yesterday by Mr. Coffin showed the losses were in excess of $1,250,000. Loans on alleged spurious stock aggregated $513,019, according to this report. The unsecured claims were given as $257,349 and "forged checks" as $102,745. Loans secured by stocks were listed as $138,516 and preferred claims were given as $8,305.

Continue Case Of Negro Young Widener Accuses

George Smith, colored, who was to have been given a preliminary hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before Magistrate R. S. Fitts at Schoolfield, on the charge of inducing Leonard F. Widener, aged 14, to drink household ammonia last Monday evening, has been continued. Hon. Eugene Withers and E. J. Hundley, retained to defend the negro, found it impossible to be present this morning on account of Mr. Withers having an engagement out of town, so the case was set for August 2nd at 10 o'clock.

Magistrate R. S. Fitts yesterday released Smith from the city jail on a bond of $250 which was given in cash. Widener left the hospital yesterday and is at his home at Schoolfield, recovering rapidly from his experience.

ANNUAL ROTARY CONFERENCE TO BE IN RALEIGH

RALEIGH, N. C., July 25.—The annual conference of the 37th district Rotary clubs will be held in Raleigh on April 3 and 4, 1924. Max W. London, secretary of the local club, has been advised by District Governor G. Franklin Lenz, of Newport News, Va., who is attending the meeting of the International Board of Governors at Chicago.

Raleigh was unanimously selected for the 1924 district conference at the annual meeting of the 37th district held here at Petersburg, Va. The time for holding the 1924 session was left to the International Board of Governors for selection.

Mr. London said the conference would attract to Raleigh more than 1,000 Rotarians and other visitors. The 37th district is made up of Rotary clubs in Virginia and Eastern North Carolina.

International Director John Gibson, of Toronto, has been assigned by the International board to attend the conference here. Mr. London stated that invitations will be extended to International President Gundaker, of Philadelphia, and Rotarian Post Ed. Guest, of Detroit, to attend.

Committees have already been appointed by the local club to work out a program of entertainment for the visitors. Ernest Latfield, having been appointed General Chairman. Mr. London said the visiting Rotarians will be royally entertained during the conference.

The following North Carolina cities have clubs in the 37th district: Raleigh, Durham, Fayetteville, New Bern, Henderson, Oxford, Durham, Wilmington and Fayetteville. Twenty-one Virginia cities are represented in the district.

Senator Johnson, in a speech last night, said he found no evidence of chaos in Europe but he did find evidence of a coming conflict. Presumably in the distant future, he is not unlikely but it would have been more interesting if he had been more explicit on this point.

The report of car loadings is most significant, revealing as it does that a downward trend in business has not been as far reaching as we feared.

The only marked unfavorable trade spot is in the oil industry. Dow Jones reports reports another cut in price. The public is waiting for something authentic from Europe.

I look for continued irregularity and public support on the dips.

YOUR IMAGINATION IS A GOLD MINE

BY H. E. RUSSELL
Research and Consultation Service, LaSalle Extension University, Chicago.

(Special to The Bee.) MOST people speak lightly of the imagination and fail to realize its tremendous importance for getting ahead in the practical world. Yet it has been responsible for the creation of more fortunes than has any other human faculty.

Just what is this wonderful thing, imagination, and how can each of us put it to practical use?

Imagination is the act of finding a connection or tie-up between two things that up to this time have not had this tie-up.

For example, until the cream-separator inventor came along, there was no tie-up between a child's spinning top and the problem of separating the cream from the milk. But the inventor saw that centrifugal force, which kept the spinning top or equilibrium, could also be made to extract the cream.

Later someone noticed that the same force could be used to dry clothes in the laundry, and still later it was discovered that by the same method small machine-shop products could be cleaned of their oil. All these discoveries were the work of the imagination.

Know How. The purpose of imagination is to secure some new, profitable idea. Of the many ideas thus obtained only a few prove of any value. But if you really pay to try out a hundred new things if among them one worth-while idea may be discovered.

Few persons know how to put their imagination to practical use. There are a number of simple rules for doing so.

One rule is to take a given article or substance and make a list of all the possible ways in which it can be used.

For example, let us suppose that a housewife lives where whitefish are plentiful, and wants to know good ways of cooking them. So she makes a list of the different ways of cooking—baking, broiling, grilling, boiling, stewing, etc.—and tries each method with the fish. She may find new ways of cooking whitefish that produce good results, or she may not. But she is using her imagination in order to find out.

A leather goods manufacturer had a large number of small pieces of leather left over in making his product. In order not to have to throw these away as waste, he had to discover uses for them. The discovery of new uses—new tie-ups with this scrap leather—was a work of the imagination.

Imagination Profitable. Imagination may also help you to find a new, better shape for an article. A miniature manufacturer thought of putting holes in his candies and calling them "life-savers."

A soap maker thought of sending his soap out in chip form rather than in cakes. The chip miller will design a new form for a hat.

One profitable use to which you can put your imagination is finding the tie-up between yourself and life. Take the jobs of life, for instance. Which one are you best fitted for? Make a list of them and then try yourself out in each of them.

You can also list the desirable human qualities, such as forethought, courage, and by trial and practice can make a closer tie-up between these qualities and yourself.

In fact, the opportunities are unlimited for you to use your imagination for helping you to make yourself more useful and for gaining more income and happiness from life.

Underwood Warns Against "Black Clouds of West"

(By The Associated Press.) BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 25.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood, delivering his first public address since his return from Europe before the Birmingham Rotary Club today, sounded a note of warning against the "black clouds of the west" caused by the failure of the wheat market.

"We can never tell where the clouds will go," the senator said. "Who among you can tell that the same cloud now hanging over the west will not be hanging over the south next year? There is no golden rule governing this condition. The only way to guard against this economic crisis is to operate along the proper lines."

If the American business is to survive in the future it is absolutely imperative that our products have a European market and a European market cannot exist until a stabilized government has been established. The speaker said.

Underwood did not mention any political issues but he made it clear that the assistance of America was badly needed in Europe. He said that the American citizens would be great sufferers.

"The energy of man is the only way to produce, and as half of Europe is not working, it can be seen that half of it is not producing anything. Stability does not exist in government over there and no credit can be given in countries where no stability exists."

Senator Underwood appealed to the business men to do their share in the crisis.

"On the battle fields of France the boys of America did their part. I only hope and pray that in this crisis of the world the business men and citizenship of America will not flunk."

Danville Democrats Meet Tonight To Elect Delegates and Committee

The City Democratic Mass meeting will be held at eight o'clock tonight for the purpose of electing delegates to the state senatorial convention of the 13th district which is to be held at the same place at noon tomorrow also to elect a city Democratic executive committee for a two year term, and a chairman.

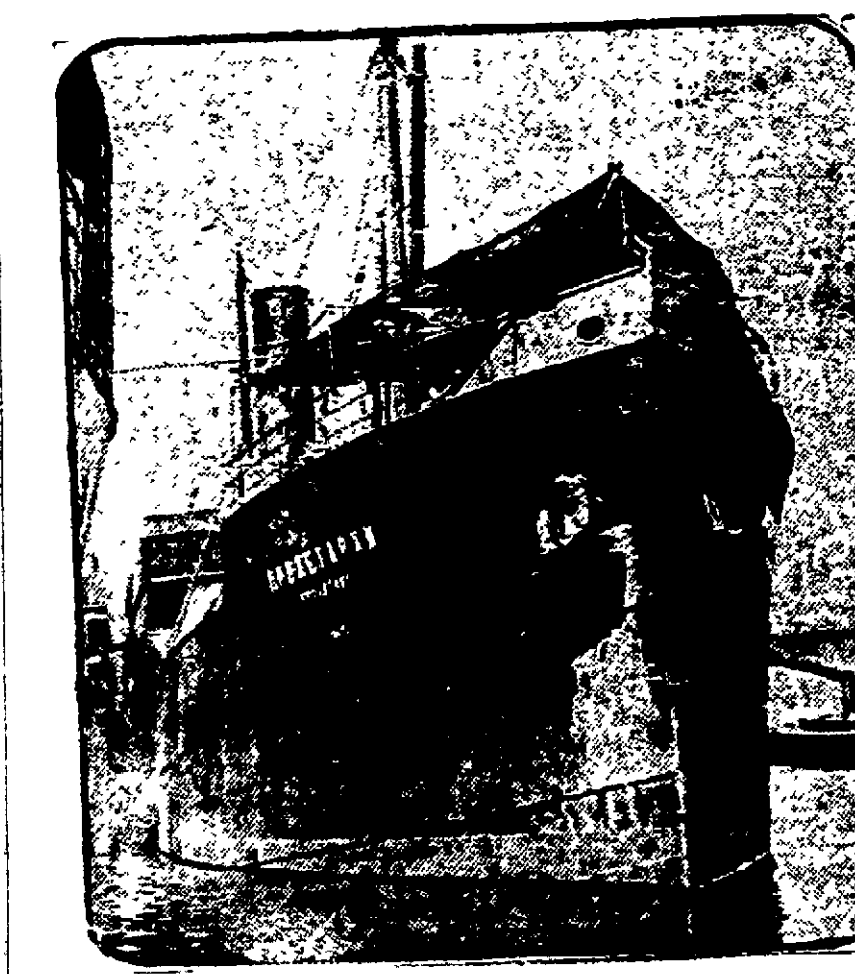

Speculation centered today on who would be chosen to take the place of John W. Cary, who is at Norfolk in a law suit and who will not be able to be present. He has already announced that he would not accept the chairmanship for another term, and he tendered him. The only two names heard in discussions of the vacancy today were W. E. Gardner who is vice chairman of the city committee and who will preside tonight, and Dr. H. A. Wiseman, World War veteran and Danville physician.

There is some talk also of the advisability of reducing the size of the city committee.

Tomorrow's convention will be largely attended by delegates from the entire district which embrace Danville, Pittsylvania, Henry and Patrick counties. Mass meetings have already been held and the delegates and alternates appointed. There appears little likelihood of any change being made in the present representation that is that Senators W. A. Garrett and N. E. Clement will be re-nominated to succeed themselves.

Russia Now Trades With England

The economic and political situation in Europe will depend in a large measure on the extent of trade between Soviet Russia and other nations. Even the Ruhr situation will be affected. Above is the "Proletary" first Russian trade ship to dock at London. It carried 400 tons of eggs.

BLIND MAN POINTS WAY FOR THOSE WHO SEE

UNION CITY, Mich., July 25.—A blind man who shows the way to others who can see! That's the rather unique position of Tom F. Robinson, one of the outstanding personalities of this place, whose industry and loyalty are exceptionally far-reaching.

How does he do it? Well, he accomplishes it all through the columns of the Register Weekly, Union City's only newspaper, of which Robinson is sole owner, publisher and editor. And he performs his tasks in a way which would be a credit to people with less handicaps in life.

For 10 years now "Tom," as he is known to his many readers, and acquaintances, has been totally blind. But the loss of vision has never tended to discourage him. In fact, the affliction has only served to spur him on to greater efforts.

Coleman Declares Arrest In Winston Due to Spite Work

(By The Associated Press.) STATE LICENSE INSPECTOR Ben C. Coleman has returned from Winston-Salem, where he went a few days ago in connection with the arrest of "Guv" Flynn, who is charged with others in connection with the theft of an automobile.

Coleman declares that the arrest of "Guv" Flynn, who is charged with others in connection with the theft of an automobile, was not a coincidence while in Winston-Salem, of a State warrant charging him with carrying a concealed weapon as an outgrowth of personal feeling against him by certain people of that community whose hostility has been engendered by his recent activities.

Mr. Coleman has brought about the arrest of men believed to be associated in the theft of automobiles. The inspector declared this morning that he was released on a bail bond of $200 for his appearance in Winston on August 10th. In the meantime he will not cease his activities in Forsyth county for just before leaving there he was sworn in as a deputy sheriff of that county and he is now privileged to operate there and to continue to look for the warrant was sworn out against Mr. Coleman by Jesse Swain. Mr. Coleman claims at the suggestion of an attorney of Winston.

Swain states that not many months ago he caused the arrest of Swain in Martinsville for violating the State automobile law and that he believed the counter warrant was the work of spite.

Paul Mecum, who is also alleged to have operated in Winston is to be given a preliminary hearing before the United States commissioner at Lynchburg tomorrow. Mecum was arrested there some months ago charged with the theft of an automobile from Dr. Harvie Johnson, of Jacksonville, Fla., it being claimed that the machine was furnished to Mecum's possession. The car has been fully identified.

"LYNCH TIME" HEARD BY DRY OFFICERS ON RAID

(By The Associated Press.) COLUMBUS, O. July 25.—Activities of prohibition enforcement officers today in two Columbus hotels, the Deshler and the Chittenden, culminated tonight in what police termed a "near riot" when two of the agents arrested at the Deshler a man who gave his name as W. A. Cary, of Pittsburgh, on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

The new speed limits in Sweden for passenger cars are 22 miles an hour in the city and 28 miles an hour in the country.

Pat Boyd came all the way from Georgia in his flapper without a license tag but when he reached the vicinity of Danville officers nabbed him. He is a travelling salesman, selling a fluid to exterminate boll weevils. He left the car with the police as security for his appearance on Saturday.

The docket this morning was a brief one. In fact so brief that just one other case was on it, this having already been settled. It was A. B. Bryant who contributed $21 and costs for speeding.

Girl Teacher Drinks Acid

FAIRFAX, Va., July 25.—Miss Virginia Kinnaman, a young teacher from Goochland county, who is a student at the summer session of the State Normal School for Women, attempted suicide Tuesday at noon by drinking carbolic acid. The young woman was alone in her room at the time, and no reason for her act can be assigned. Her mouth and face were terribly burned by the effects of the acid. She was at once taken to the infirmary and given every attention, but no hope is entertained for her recovery. On account of not being able to communicate with her relatives in Goochland, two of the members of the Normal School faculty left this afternoon by automobile for the unfortunate girl's home, in order that the planner family might be apprised of her condition as soon as possible.

KEELER, AT 80, GOES TO WORK

After fourteen years of enforced idleness because of ill health, J. H. Keeler, widely known Maryland citizen, has gained forty pounds at the age of eighty years and gone back to work every day.

Mr. Keeler, who resides at 3706 Thirty-Second street, Mt. Rainier, Md. gives entire credit for his extraordinary rehabilitation to Tanlac.

"My stomach was in such terrible condition I could hardly digest a thing," says Mr. Keeler. "It would swell to nearly twice its normal size and I would have frightful pains through my stomach an obdack. I felt so weak, dizzy and miserable work was out of the question. In fact, my friends gave me up on three or four different occasions."

"Five months ago I began taking Tanlac and improved from the very first bottle. I now eat anything on the table, have gained forty pounds, and am back at work every day. Actually, I feel like a boy again. It would be ungrateful of me not to praise Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 57 million bottles sold.

Wonderful for Piles Says Peterson

If you received every week a dozen or more letters like the ones below from people who have suffered torments from piles, wouldn't you feel happier than the man whose life is devoted to money grabbing?

"Gentlemen—I have been suffering with a fistula for the past twenty years. During that time I have tried numerous remedies, all of which have failed."

"Two months ago I determined to give Peterson's Ointment a trial. The improvement was so decided after using one box that I have continued, and on the completion of the fifth box am now entirely cured."

"This is written with the view of passing along the good word to other sufferers." Very truly yours, Chas. E. Caswell, 282 Third Street, Albany, N. Y.

Here's another from Mr. Edgar Thomas, age 76, of Hemlock, N. Y. He writes:

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the little one arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in all cases of child-birth, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the "Mother's Friend" in his science, and Mrs. G. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and after using it a nurse was had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as soon as you feel the first pains. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., B. A. 45, Atlanta, Ga., for free literature book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The Asquiths

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. J. P. Craft entertained the members and guests of the Baptist Missionary Union at a banquet served in the college dining room.

Covers were laid for 150 and when the guests had taken their places all remained standing while Prof. J. C. Craft asked the blessing upon the women here representing so many branches of Christian endeavor.

The room was beautifully decorated for the occasion in lavender and white, the colors of the Woman's Missionary Union. In the center of the dining room tables were arranged in the form of a cross and covered with white linen. At the intersection of the cross was a large centerpiece of gladiolas and fern, on either side and along the length were laid letter W. M. U. in purple. Ribbons of white and lavender hung gracefully from the electric light fixtures to the corners. Prof. and Mrs. Craft presided at this table at which were the officers of the Association.

Four long tables were placed along the four sides of the dining room and similarly decorated. Crystal candlesticks with bows of lavender tulle and holding white candles, gave a mellow light which added a touch of coziness to the room.

The place cards, hand painted by Miss Mildred Keeling, were tied with lavender ribbon and on some of them were written toasts appropriate to the occasion.

Julian Skinnell, a former graduate in the musical department of Averett College, gave a piano solo and Basil Browder, accompanied by Miss Balfing, sang a beautiful selection.

Three courses were served: Cold caneloupes, chicken, creamed potatoes, peas, hot rolls and butter, tomatoes, lettuce, tea, olive, ice cream and cake.

After the toasts to "A" officers had been given, Mrs. Chisholm led in a unanimous cheer for the hostess, Mrs. Craft, thanking her for her hospitality on this occasion and expressing their appreciation of devoted service to the Woman's Missionary Union.

The response was unanimous. Miss Blanch White, Field Secretary of the W. M. U. for Virginia, addressed the assembly in most impressive and glowing terms.

Religious education through study and work, carrying on the Gospel of Christ to those who have not heard the high aim the organization. By thoughtful prayer and communion with Him who is our source of strength, was the way pointed out to all members, both individually and collectively.

Immediately after leaving the banquet hall these present were invited to the auditorium where an illustrated lecture on foreign mission fields was given by Dr. J. M. Koster.

In this entertainment Mrs. Craft admirably succeeded in demonstrating her ability as a hostess in combining thoughts of work and play, making of both a pleasure.

Toasts to Popular Gentlemen. The many toasts given by the ladies present at the W. M. U. banquet yesterday afternoon, showed cleverness and ingenuity, and provoked a continuous expression of admiration.

The following gentlemen received special attention in the following:

To Prof. Craft. We cheer you long and loud we do. You help us on in all our knowledge. You teach our girls a lot of knowledge.

We'll cheer you for the whole year through. And help you boost our Averett College.

To Dr. Shelburne. "Dr. Shelburne, so they say, travels now the Essex Way. If you hear him honk his horn in the eve, or in the morn, March right out and ask him in. If his affection you would win. He still likes chicken, pie and cake, they all vanish in his wake. I've a secret too, to tell, now open your ears and listen well. As a parson he's all right, but as a chauffeur he's a fright. But we would love him without check, if he ran over and broke our neck."

The second course: Consisting of chicken, mashed potatoes, peas, rolls and butter, tomato salad, olive and tea, were served. Punch was served at the beginning of the game and an ice course in shapes of hearts, spades, diamonds and clubs, in a color scheme of green and white, were served after the game.

The score cards were engraved with a conventional after-the-game expression. Mrs. C. T. Carter won the highest score and prize, an imported basket. Miss Moore was also presented with a beautiful basket.

KNITTED WEAR LOOKS GOOD IN ANY SUMMER SETTING

(Special to The Bee.)

A KNITTED costume this season looks smart whether the background is the ocean, the mountains, the tennis court or just all outdoors.

Knitted things usually have had their own style, hardly ever showing the influence of other fashions. Now they are showing the influence of the latest styles.

Take, for instance, the bandanna blouse sweater made of Iceland wool and having a knitted bandanna around the neck. That's the newest of knitted fashions.

There's a slip-over sweater in diamond design with a V-neck that carries out the fashionable long line. There's the sweater in Tuxedo style with a checker board pattern in front and plain in back.

For all these sweaters and sweater blouses a pleated skirt is the most appropriate.

Americans Given Important Work On Reparations

(By The Associated Press.)

PARIS, July 26.—While the United States government has limited its activities in the reparations embryo to an official observer, and since the Versailles Treaty has watched the problem as it became more intricate day by day, there has been a little group of Americans here for the past four years who have taken nothing but a minor part in the vast work of the reparations commission.

This unheralded little group constitutes the staff of accountants with the commission, and is headed by George E. Auld, formerly an officer of the United States navy, who holds the post of Accountant General. He is responsible directly to the commission for the completeness and accuracy of all financial records having to do with the receipt and disbursement of money and commodities handed over by Germany.

The position of Mr. Auld with the commission is entirely individual, and has no connection with the United States or any other government. His staff of about 20 Americans comes under the same classification.

The task of the accountancy department is one of the most difficult of the commission's work. To strike its daily and monthly balances, it must deal with ships, livestock, abandoned war materiel, rolling-stock, coal and coke, dyestuffs, and a score of other commodities, as well as the actual cash payments of German gold marks. When the balance sheet has been tallied, it is necessary to render the totals in marks, pounds, francs, lire and dollars. The commodity valuations have been made in nearly all the currencies of Europe, as well as in dollars.

When currency payments are made, they are immediately converted to gold through the dollar rate, with roughly four marks equaling one dollar. The accountancy department receives the New York exchange rate for 20 to 25 countries by cable each day, and with these rates as a basis, daily, weekly and monthly parties between the various currencies are established. At the end of each month a complete report is made, showing the amount Germany has paid to date, and how it has been distributed among the Allies.

Much of this work is done by the American staff. One computes the value of coal from the Ruhr; another determines the worth of livestock in francs, dollars and pounds; another reduces locomotives to marks and the while another one quotes ducks, geese and chickens in dollars, guilders and crowns.

At the end of 1922, the accountancy department under Mr. Auld had whittled the miles of figures into an intelligible report, showing that Germany had turned over to the Allies a grand total of $1,982,000,000. Of this sum $454,000,000 was in cash; $388,000,000 in commodities; and $539,000,000 in state properties of ceded territories.

The ships she had parted with totaled two and a half million tons, valued at $177,000,000. Of rolling-stock she had delivered 4,552 locomotives and 127,000 wagons, worth $207,000,000. The livestock included 529,000 head, exclusive of poultry. This was given a valuation of $40,000,000. The coal, coke and lignite delivered exceeded 48 million tons, worth $237,000,000, the dyestuffs totaled 23,000 tons, valued at $15,000,000, and the miscellaneous commodities to numerous to classify, were determined to be worth $134,000,000.

The selection of Mr. Auld to head the important accountancy bureau of the reparations commission was made after he had spent several months in Paris as assistant financial advisor to the Peace Commission. Although only 42 years of age, he had served a number of years in the United States navy, and was given the task of organizing the cost and financial control maintained by the navy department in about 100 large industrial plants doing work for the government before the Armistice. When asked to take a post with the reparations commission, he resigned from the navy to accept.

The inter-allied accountancy organization now has bureaus in Berlin, Essen, Weisbaden, Budapest and Upper Silesia. The Paris staff consists of about 100 persons, made up of Americans, French, English, Italian and Belgians.

The commodities section is headed by W. L. Gullinan of Cohoes, N. Y., formerly of the U. S. Army Liquidation Board in Paris. The bureau at Essen and Weisbaden are in charge of E. W. Erbe, formerly in the accountancy department of the Pennsylvania railroad. The branch set up at Berlin to handle the task of revaluing German war materiel sold for reparations was until recently directed by Captain Oliver K. Badley of New York.

Another American with the commission is Rolay Tyler of Boston, in charge of the personnel department under the General Secretary. He also acts as advisor to the commission when matters arise concerning the art treasures of the late Austro-Hungarian monarchy, upon which the reparations commission has first lien. Mrs. Tyler's chief assistant in the personnel department is I. J. Nochy, of New Orleans.

Heading the dyestuffs bureau of the commission is Reginald Norris of Oregon, who has superintended the sale of some 3,000 tons of German art treasures to the American Textile Alliance on the commission's account. Guy E. Greer of Kentucky is second in the important coal bureau of the commission, the chief of which is an Italian.

OLD SOLDIER TO CELEBRATE 95TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

(By The Associated Press.)

RALEIGH, N. C., July 26.—Private John Shriver, oldest inmate at the old soldiers home for Confederate veterans, will celebrate his 95th birthday August 2.

Mr. Shriver is one of the most active men at the home, according to Superintendent J. A. Wiggs, retaining all his faculties. "He is as spry as a cricket," said Mr. Wiggs, "and is one of the jolliest boys at the home. He has a good appetite, sleeps well, and I think he will live considerably past the century mark."

Mr. Shriver is from Forsyth county and entered the home about a year ago. He saw much service during the War Between the States. The youngest veteran at the camp is 76 years of age, Mr. Wiggs stated.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Walton have gone to Camp Meade to visit their son.

HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED

What's a Man to Do When His Wife Flits Off to Card Parties or Auto Jaunts, Leaving Him Standing Before Empty Icebox?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What in the world is a man to do when his wife flits off to card parties or automobile rides and leaving him stranded before an empty ice box?" a disgusted male inquired.

The question might seem funny if it did not come from constantly recurring situations so similar they point to one source: selfishness.

It used to be the fashion—the word fashion is used advisedly—for men to be the flitters, and they rather thought the women perching on the edge of the home nest valued them all the more for their detachment. Independence, but that they did not know women after all, and the perchers had chosen the edge of the nest so that it would be easier to fly when they got ready to leave.

Then the cases were reversed. The stay-at-home took longer and longer flights, and the debonair male, with his allure rapidly going, began to hover about the deserted place and squawk in protest.

Every once in a while now a case will appear where it is the man who looks after the running of the house and the general care of the children. He may not blazon the fact abroad, having an inherent fear of being looked down on as having lost out in the marriage lottery, but there he is, night after night, getting bread and milk for the littlest and sandwiches for the next littlest, while his partner has stayed to dinner or has had the chance to go on the loveliest boat ride ever.

If the woman of today were so neglected she would rise up and let the fact be known by one of the many channels that have been thrown open for her use. It is the selfish woman who trades on that fact and lets husband, who "adores the children," do her work as well as his own. It really is so. Many a woman shirks her part of the firm's work, and queerly enough, seems to think it adds to her attractiveness to do so.

There always comes a reckoning, either from the husband, the children, or the neighbors. No man is going to hang on forever to a worthless proposition. No children are going to love a mother who thinks them a bother. Neighbors cannot and will not respect some one who fails to show a neighborly spirit and carry on her share of the community's work.

Men have more esthetic sense than they usually receive credit for. A man who apparently is most prosaic and practical, one day in a burst of frankness that turned his face purple said that what he objected to was the careless ways of women after they settle in a home. To an expert and inquiring life of the eyebrow he went in deeper by explaining that his wife did not seem to care how she set the table for his breakfast. He had to breakfast early, and she put the spoons on askew, forgot a glass of water, gave him left-overs, and so on. We remarked that he was lucky to have the table set. He was in dead earnest and was right in his objection. If a woman cannot run her share of the matrimonial firm why on earth is she so poor a sport as to go into it? She deserves what is bound to hit her in the long run.

No woman would like to come home after a hot day in town and find the rock had neglected to order something for dinner or had let the ice man slide by without leaving a cheering chunk. Because the cook has done such things the domestic situation had been discussed at clubs and in other public places. The woman may deny she is the caliber of the cook, but her denial amounts to nothing when she does exactly the same things. (No, we do not quote Kipling.)

There are few entertainments that can excuse neglect of the home. Movie shows and clubs, automobile rides and yachting trips may seem irresistible, but after a home is organized and has supervision these attractions can be visited, and a woman is too selfish to hold either husband or friends when she flies about wholly to her own enjoyment, leaving the home to run itself and become nothing more than a dry retreat in a thunder shower.

BELGIAN-FRENCH SPLIT ON DRAFT

BY VINCENT SHEAN
(By Chicago Tribune Service)

PARIS, July 25.—France and Belgium have split regarding the attitude to take on the British draft of the reparations to the German memorandum on reparations.

Serious difficulties have arisen through the efforts of the Brussels government to act as mediator in the affair instead of permitting Downing street to act as arbitrator.

With Italy and the United States also hinting that they are ready to referee the reparations question the French face complete isolation if Premier Poincaré insists on standing pat on his three original decisions: First—Cessation of passive resistance in the Ruhr before examination of Germany's offers.

Second—The evacuation of the newly occupied territory only after complete payment of reparations.

Third—Reduction of the French demands for indemnity only to the amount that Great Britain and the United States decrease their claims for war loans.

Quid Orsay admitted today that France and Belgium will probably not send a joint and identical reply to Great Britain's note, but it expressed the hope that the responses will be "parallel." It denied that M. Poincaré has sent Ambassador Herbet at Brussels a written memorandum to submit to Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar, explaining that he was merely given instructions to outline the French viewpoint.

At a cabinet meeting today M. Poincaré outlined to the ministers the developments that have occurred since the reception of the British note, palliating the tendency of Belgium to backslide and calling on M. Letroquer, minister of public works, to enhance this conference by an exposure of the Ruhr situation today.

"Seven hundred trains are operating daily in the Ruhr—300 passenger and 400 freight," said M. Letroquer. "Business is increasing so that it will be necessary to increase to 1,000 soon."

"A month ago, 21,000 German passengers weekly used French military operated trains, while now 75,000 use them. Essen, Bochum and Dortmund are the biggest patronizers of the railroads, proving the weakening of the passive resistance."

"The tendency of Brussels is to consider the British note as a basis for discussion," said Baldwin as will be to yield on certain points on which M. Poincaré is adamant and to compromise on the two viewpoints. An investigation of Germany's capacity to pay may be suggested over permitting the reparations commission to call in various experts, including American and maybe Dutch and Swiss, to study the problem, the findings being merely submitted to the Hotel Astor for reference and not being a binding decision."

TINIEST WATCH

An ornament that may rival the jeweled wrist watch is the small watch set in a dinner ring. It is worn on the fourth finger and is a case of reducing the watch to its very lowest terms.

FLOOD OF "BLACK GOLD" FAILS TO CHANGE HER

(Special to The Bee.)

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 24.—Back in the days of '49, Eileen De Noya's great-grandfather struck out for California in search of gold.

But Eileen, prelate and most popular maiden in the Osage Indian tribe, content with life among her people, never strayed far from her native district.

Yet plenty of gold has come her way. And it was discovered right on her allotment on the government reservation near here.

It was not the shiny glittering yellow gold her grandfather sought. It was black. But it was just as profitable.

Oil today is spouting from hundreds of wells on Eileen's lands. And the town, which sprang up there almost overnight, bears the name of the Indian girl upon whose acres it was built.

Now it's the most enterprising little city in the entire Osage field, recognized as the greatest oil producing section in the world.

Eileen has received many offers for her land. But all her would-be suitors have been rejected. Letters proposing marriage arrive in every mail.

The beautiful Osage princess wants only to be left alone. She's satisfied with a life of quiet luxury and ease here among her people.

LABOR FIGHT IS STILL WAGING

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 25.—The battle of labor with the International Longshoremen's Association and the Marine Transport Workers' division of the Industrial Workers of the World which have been waging in Hoboken since yesterday, continued today with both sides claiming a victory.

John A. Ryan, vice president of the International, gave out a statement saying the strike had been settled with the promise of return of members of his organization. Officials of the I. W. W. came back with an answer in which they denied the strike was off and a settlement had been reached.

The I. W. W.'s were determined to bring out all their demands in the port of greater New York unless their demands are granted. It was indicated, when a circular was posted in Brooklyn headquarters of the organization, calling a mass meeting for next Sunday, when a strike vote will be taken.

Leaders of the I. W. W. assert there are now 1,500 men out on strike for higher wages and better working conditions. Officers of International declare there are nowhere near this number out.

I. W. W. leaders likewise assert that 12 ships of eight lines are tied up and more tie-ups are to come.

Mr. Ryan stated the decision to return to work was made at a mass meeting in Hoboken today. The I. W. W. accounts of this meeting say it was attended by only a few "hand-picked" members of the I. L. A. and that "wobblies" were barred, as were those of the more conservative unions suspected of being inclined to favor the strike.

ASHEVILLE FIRE DAMAGE SET AT $200,000

(By The Associated Press)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 25.—Damage estimated at $200,000 was caused by a fire which destroyed the three-story building and stocks of the Emporium Department store here today. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Two employees of the establishment were injured. O. P. McArthur suffered a broken leg when he jumped from a second story window, and Mrs. C. Williams sustained minor burns. Their injuries were not believed to be serious.

The fire made rapid headway and for a time other buildings in the vicinity were threatened. All available fire apparatus in the city was rushed to the scene and the flames were brought under control before further damage was done to adjoining buildings.

—Lieutenant W. Burns Trundie, who is a patient at the Danville General hospital where he underwent an operation for appendicitis last Saturday, is reported as improving nicely.

—J. T. Peck has returned from a vacation spent at Hot Springs, Va. and Virginia Beach.

British Co-operative Buying And Marketing Covers World

BY MILTON BRONNER
(Special to The Bee.)

LONDON, July 26.—In America we think we know something about big business enterprises, but it is doubtful whether we have anything in our country which excels or even approaches the far-reaching activities of the Co-operative Wholesale Society.

Just as raindrops make the creeks and the creeks make the swelling river, so the pennies of the working people of England pour into the shops of the Co-operative societies and these in turn into the coffers of the Co-operative Wholesale Society, making mighty enterprises possible.

The officers of the C. W. S. soon saw that if they were to get goods at low figures they would have to cut out the middleman. That meant two things.

Depots All Over World. They would have to purchase directly from the producers.

They would have to become manufacturers themselves.

In the first instance they at once established buying agencies all over the world. Today the Co-operative Society has purchasing depots in all five of the great continents and it has its own fleet of four steam vessels and ten lighters.

The first factories were very small. Today the C. W. S. studs England with its plants.

It has nine flour mills with an annual output worth over 5 million dollars. The other things it manufactures for its retail societies are provided and oil cake, biscuits, crackers, candy, cheese, margarine, lard, bacon, preserves, pickles, vinegar, yeast, cocoa and chocolate, drugs and chemicals, tobacco in all its forms, all kinds of cotton and wool textiles, hosiery, soap and detergents, clothing and underclothing, corsets, boots and shoes, leather, furniture, hardware, bicycles and motorcycles, brushes and mats, soap, paint, saddlery and harness, trunks and bags, chinaware and printed matter and glass bottles.

Has Its Own Farms. Tea is such a universal beverage in Great Britain that the Co-operative Wholesale Society soon became convinced it was uneconomical to buy from planters. The thing to do was to become a planter itself. So it joined hands with the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society, which covers Scotland as the C. W. S. does England and Wales. Today they own jointly 5,706 acres of tea lands in Ceylon, 26,765 acres in south India, 17,439 in Assam, making a grand total of 49,920 acres.

Equipped with experience that it paid to do its own farming, the C. W. S. gradually purchased his farms all over Great Britain. Today it owns 34,671 acres, the value of which is over 12 million dollars. On these farms a considerable portion of the fruit, peas, tomatoes, etc., is grown and sent directly to its own preserving and canning works.

The Co-operative Wholesale Society today employs over 32,000 persons, exclusive of those who work for it overseas. Its salary roll is over 26 million dollars per year. The value of the products manufactured in its own factories is over 130 million dollars per annum.

COUZENS IS OUT FOR REELECTION

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

DETROIT, July 25.—U. S. Senator James Couzens stood yesterday an avowed candidate for election to the United States Senate in 1924, following the first public announcement of his intention to run made last night to 2,500 delegates.

The senator spoke during an intermission of the showing of a war film under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The senator minced no words in expressing his "desire and willingness" to be a candidate to succeed himself in the office to which he was appointed by Governor Groesbeck.

"If I had been elected to the office I now hold you would have had no doubt as to how I stood on the Volstead law and could have acted accordingly," said the senator. "Undoubtedly you will have the opportunity to know as you do exactly how I stand on the iniquitous Volstead law."

"I believe that 80 per cent. of Congress, if able to vote secretly, would vote against the bonus ought to know where these men stand and will know, if I ask your suffrage. I had the temerity to suggest a change in an ill-working law and have been called a traitor for it. I am a traitor to the man who would force or attempt to force me to any act contrary to my conscience," said the senator.

The Rev. M. C. Pearson, executive secretary of the Detroit council of churches today predicted that Michigan church people will defeat Couzens by supporting former State Senator Herbert S. Baker, a senatorial candidate a year ago.

SAY G. O. P. SEE DOOM OF PARTY TICKET IN 1924

BY GEORGE H. MANNING

WASHINGTON, July 25.—That the sound and wise observers in the ranks of the Republican party are becoming increasingly aware of the handwriting on the wall forecasting the doom of the party ticket in 1924 is made more apparent every day.

Leaving aside the troubled state of mind of the voters in the old and wily agricultural West, which sends Brookhart and Tamm to the Senate, it is being reluctantly admitted that the voters of the safe and sound East are not causing any remarkable disturbance in the upper atmosphere by their snouts of approbation for the Harding administration policies.

A recent row of substantial weight in determining the actual impressions of politicians in the East over Republican prospects was supplied by Representative Beggs, of Ohio, one of the House whips. In a jovious tone of Polynesian optimism the Ohioan despatched a form letter to a number of his Republican colleagues in the House, informing them of the glowing impressions he had gotten from visits to various states of the East and asking them for their own ideas on the party prospects in their respective districts.

A great number of the replies received by Mr. Beggs have yet been released for the public eye, but various anonymous reports have leaked out to the effect that from nearly all the eastern states the replies are failing to uphold the confidence of the Republican whip.

As tersely expressed by one leader in Congress from one of the strategic Atlantic Coast States:

"Everybody may be the way you say it, but I have my doubts. What the people want is cheaper coal and cheaper sugar. They are not bothering about international propositions."

Representative Bacharach of Atlantic City, N. J., dean of the Jersey delegation in Congress, not only predicted a decisive victory for the Democratic nominee for president in New Jersey, but also expressed grave doubts as to the probability of the reelection of Senator Walter E. Edge, who is expected to be opposed by Governor Silzer, and even goes so far as to admit the dark and gloomy outlook for himself and the other Republican Congressmen from his state.

It may be claimed that the situation in New Jersey cannot be taken as representative, on account of the unusually large body of wet sentiment in that state; but still, votes are votes in the electoral college, and New Jersey has several—likewise, New York, where the situation may be said to be practically the same, if not more so.

But that isn't all. From the Rock-ribbed Republican state of Pennsylvania, it is learned, Mr. Beggs received a letter from Representative Guy Campbell of Pittsburgh, beside which Mr. Bacharach's modest words seemed like the happy laughter of an idiot.

Mr. Campbell, it is understood, made it quite plain that in his opinion the Republicans in Pennsylvania might as well crawl up a hole and tie under the administration leaders could disillusion themselves as to the importance of the Pittsburgh Congressmen proceeded to outline a few policies which he thought might help Mr. LaFollette himself could have been proud of them.

THREE CAPITAL CASES UP

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Three capital cases are scheduled for trial at the July term of Beaufort county Superior Court which convenes here Monday with Judge H. M. Bond presiding. There are five other cases on the docket. The three capital cases are: State vs. Garland, murder; State vs. Thad Pazo, murder; and State vs. E. Daw, charged with attacking a woman.

BETTER STATUS FOR DISABLED EX-SERVICE MEN

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—An order giving a more stable compensation status to disabled former service men was announced today by Director Hines of the Veterans Bureau.

Under the new plan which affects men whose condition indicates that their disability has reached a stationary level and cannot be benefited by further hospital treatment each of the veterans at his next regular examination will go before a special board of three medical officers who will attempt to determine the extent of disability on a more or less permanent basis and will fix the status of compensation for a period of two years. At present a new examination is required every 90 days.

If dissatisfied with the gradings given them, veterans will have the privilege of a re-examination at any time.

Director Hines explained that the purpose of permanent partial disability rating to relieve men of the inconvenience of 90 day re-examination and at the same time to enable them to rely on a definite compensation over a long period.

Men still in hospitals with hope of further improvement remain under the regulations now in force.

The director also announced that as another efficiency step, he was considering employment of business executives to assist the commanding officers of veterans bureau hospitals.

He said a careful study of the hospitals had indicated the need of such executives particularly in view of the large amounts of money expended. Sixteen of the bureau's hospitals are expending $500,000 or more a year and 14 others are handling around $350,000.

JUDGE PRAISES HER FOR KILLING HUSBAND

CINCINNATI, July 25.—Mrs. Besie E. Bush, jury verdict, was acquitted and immediately discharged for the killing of her husband, William Edward Bush, after being arraigned on a charge of murder in Municipal Court here today. Judge Steinman, in dismissing Mrs. Bush, said she was justified in killing her husband in defense of herself and child.

Mrs. Bush shot and killed her husband yesterday afternoon, she said, in order to kill her and his stepchild. She told the court Bush objected to the child going to Sunday school.

Mother Got from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my little girl was born, and the effect had was wonderful. This will be the first child I have nursed, as I had to bring my two boys up on the bottle. I was very nervous and worried tired all the time, and after I read about the Vegetable Compound I tried it and it did me good. I will continue its use and recommend it to my friends. You may publish these facts as a testimonial for your medicine."—Mrs. Wm. K. Lunge, 169 Plymouth St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after the birth of the child, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother at this time. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by the nursing mother.

TONIGHT'S CIVIC OBLIGATION.

Democrats of Danville will perform an important obligation tonight when they meet for the purpose of electing delegates to tomorrow's state senatorial convention to be held here and what is more important, to elect for a term of two years a city Democratic committee of whatever size a majority of those present determine. Too much apathy has been observed of late in party affairs in this city there has been a lack of sufficient interest by the people who, after all, are the real directors of party policy and methods. It should not be forgotten that next year is a presidential year and the Democratic Executive committee to be chosen tonight will be expected to shoulder the responsibilities which will fall on every little cog in the machine of the national democracy.

There is already a report current that an effort will be made to control the mass meeting for the purpose of securing the appointment of a committee to meet a specific end. This should be enough to arouse interest among the Democrats, men and women, and to prompt them to turn out in order that their voice may be heard in determining this important local matter. A chairman or the titular leader of the party in Danville is to be selected. It is not a duty to be shirked but calls for a large attendance in order that those selected to carry out the Democratic policies may be men and women of capacity and that their selection may represent the wishes of the entire community rather than any one group or faction.

THE NEAR EAST PEACE TRAVESTY.

The Near East peace treaty signed at Lausanne by the allied powers will not be accepted with enthusiasm by the Christian world. While definitely terminating a long period of international strife and dispelling ominous clouds which have hovered over Asia minor since the great war the treaty of Lausanne is an outstanding and monumental disgrace. In the first place it leaves Armenia to a bitter fate after kindly encouragement given her and the solace of the promises; secondly Turkey emerges from Lausanne rejuvenated, arrogant, Prussianized to a degree and a hideous figure among the powers of Europe where she takes her place. The sick man of Europe is not only well but is a more potent figure in European affairs today than he ever was—and this within a few years after the Armageddon of Europe when Turkey surrendered with the Central Powers. Thus a vanquished nation becomes a conqueror. Instead of punishment the Ottomans win far more than they could have hoped to win had they emerged triumphant in the European war and with an eternal and unpayable sin of blood hatred Turkey enters the League of Nations on an equal footing with the great powers.

Treachery in war, treachery in diplomacy the world knows with a mocking smile to the new Turkey which once its promises to one individual—Ismet Pasha the eldest brooding man of mystery—who watched his way toward the leadership of Turkey and won. This is a strange spectacle to offer to a world which has had much since the year 1914 of high moral purposes lofty ideals and the self-sacrifice of great peoples. The treaty is contrary to the principles of justice which are conspicuously absent from the document. It is a treaty of convenience, not of principle. It is the result of international expediency, of the allied powers themselves, and had secret intentions for the future and quartering of the Turkish that was to have been expelled from Europe. But they fell out among themselves and in the same way notable for oil concessions, the notable Turk rides into a safe haven on the crest of this wave of allied disunion.

THE JUNK MAN.

In New York the Waste Paper Dealers' Association, unable to compete with the Salvation Army on prices, petition the attorney general to take a hand. They claim that the Salvation Army, by conducting a big waste paper business, is violating the provisions of the act under which it was created as a religious and charitable corporation.

For instance, in one case, the army bid $1.37 per 100 pounds for old paper, while the next highest bid, by a commercial competitor, was only 65 cents per 100 pounds.

The average reader will not be interested in the technicalities of this squabble. But it will be both interesting and astonishing, that the collection of waste paper in New York city alone is a 15-million dollar industry. The Salvation Army is reconstructing a seven-story building in New York city to house and provide working facilities for 80 down-and-outers, also to include a store where the poor can buy salvaged and repaired clothing and household goods at very low prices.

The money for this construction job—$30,000—was obtained by collecting waste paper at the back doors of New York households. Look at your waste basket. It is a symbol of one of the chief ways by which big fortunes will be made in the future. We have been so blessed with rich natural resources that we have gone along carelessly for generations and are only beginning to open our eyes to the possibilities of economy by the salvage route. This is true of all industries, in varying degrees. For instance, the early farmers in America mined the soil rather than farmed it. They sapped the very life from wonderfully rich and fertile earth—drained it of the best part of its vitality—and it is only within comparatively few years that there has been any widespread movement to replenish the soil's richness by commercial fertilizer. There's a saying that Europe could live on the food we Americans waste in our garbage pails. An exaggeration, yes; but it illustrates a true principle. Slowly, however, we are learning to economize with food, though a period of prosperity quickly starts the garbage pails overflowing. The cream has been skimmed from our natural resources. Scientific economy is becoming compulsory. And economy on a big scale will be worked out in the laboratories. A tremendous start has already been made in that direction. Our future gold mines will be the waste basket, the garbage pail, the ash heap and the trash pile.

LABOR'S VIEW OF RUSSIA.

(Ohio State Journal.)

Organized labor in the United States cannot accept the Red government of Russia because it has the wrong plan and the wrong objective. That was the statement of Samuel Gompers, made when a delegation of senators left Washington.

Russia is a state of government in operation there.

It is a statement worthy of the careful consideration of those inclined to view with favor the effort of the Reds in government. Gompers knows the Red, and as it is in operation in Russia and as it has been presented to the people of this country. He has been in battle with the emissaries of the Reds in and out of his own organization for years. He knows far better than most men in public life in America.

He asked the senators to tell the people of this country whether they would accept Russia and study conditions there while touring on the guest trains of the government, or whether they would be at liberty to roam about and meet the individuals and get first-hand information. Of course the senators did not answer that question. It is quite probable they never will make reply. If they were invited to Russia, as some other senators have been invited, they would be taken to see just what officials there want them to see and no more. They could get equally valuable and accurate reports from the Red government. The information gained on guest trains is not worth repeating. It is wholly inconclusive. It was wise for Gompers to put the traveling senators to the one question that goes to the bottom of the situation. Until they answer it all their statements about Russian conditions should have no consideration by Americans.

Conditions in this country are not ideal. There are some modifications to satisfy some chances, that should be made, but there is no place here for the introduction of Russia. It is made the one great idea in the minds of all religion, a proposition so monstrous it ought to be rejected at once by the people of this country. That proposition is the destruction of the Republic, the destruction of the American people, the destruction of the American Republic.

And millions in Russia are suffering as the Reds continue to order God and God at all religious teachings, and American senators are studying Russia.

DRAKES BRANCH, July 26.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—Here is a letter written by a town man to his wife who is journeying at Patrick Springs:

"Dear Flo:—Your 5 letters came this a. m. I happened to notice them in the mail box as I was leaving for work. That's the mail service for you. Well how is everything in the country? Say by the way, did you know that you went away and left the electric iron on in the kitchen? It's a wonder everything didn't burn down but the back porch, thanks to the ice man. What shall I do with all the milk that's here—3 quarts milk and 2 pints cream? Do we use that much every day? When I opened the back door tonight to whistle for your cat, there they were (the milk) I found the cat curled up asleep in the canary cage, so now I won't have to feed either of 'em. In your first letter the first thing you ask for is a check and your hair brush that you forgot. I've found the brush and you ought to get in a couple of days. What will I do about now? I scouted up a couple of pairs in the wash basket but they ain't ironed. Where do you keep the bees wax? I didn't get home from work tonight in time to go to the store but I found a can of salmon in the pantry. I made a bum job of frunk it, but I boiled some potatoes in the skins, and made some toast from a half loaf of bread that got kind of hard and heated up some coffee from this a. m., and it all tasted pretty good. Don't worry none about me or the house, everything o. k. and take it easy and rest.

Your affec' hus' HANK."

"P. S.—When are you coming home?"

Lady Sweetbrier.

Lady Sweetbrier soon will I have to wear a new dress. I was born for June and for July. Tet, forever and a day—Rosa rubingiosa— I shall hold you sweet of mine. Wild and dainty elegant!

Hiding shyly as you do Where waste places shimmer through Rocky pastures and old spots Of the first forget-me-nots. By your gentle beauty stayed— And the lessening of his grief— Through your aromatic leaf!

Lady Sweetbrier, romance seems Part of you, as of our dreams Who have found you with delight In your dry retreat—tonight Memory of you seems to cling To my heart, as when the spring Brings that sister of the May, Little loved hepatica!

World of beauty—how confined thy variants of mind! For this ever that life sings Sweetest of the simple things: So that you, my lady sweet, Are in self a song complete. With all music charmed that flows For your worship—hainty rose! —Bentwood Bard.

THE YELLOW SEVEN. THE DAUGHTER OF CHAI HUNG.

ONEA SERVICE INC. 1923

This unusual series of stories deals with the exploits of "Chinese" Pennington, a detective sent by his government to British North Borneo to run to earth The Yellow Seven, a gang of Chinese bandits.

PENNINGTON met Brabazon standing outside the Rest House at Jesselton, his hands stuck in his pockets, following with evident admiration the easy, elegant gait of a Malay girl who was making her way toward the harbor.

"Pennington, by all that's wonderful!" The talker man extended a hand.

"I've been here three solid months—and I didn't know you were on the island. How are you?"

"Fit as a fiddle! Come in and have a sling."

"Chinese" Pennington looked at that back in a couple of days.

"I got it back," continued Pennington. "I'll tell you all about it some day. There was another card connected with the Allison case, and a knife, bearing the same grim symbol on its handle, preceded an attempt to assassinate the Commissioner of Police himself. Now the whole island's seething with the cursed things and Hewitt won't hear of my leaving until I've secured the watch."

"I can give you half-an-hour, old son," he told him. "I'm due at the Commissioner's at four."

He followed Brabazon up rickety stairs to the veranda that overlooked the road. He dropped into a chair and his companion perched himself on the arm of it, becoming all over his broad, handsome face.

"Still at the same game?" he inquired, pointing toward his case.

Pennington nodded.

"Still hunting down the world's worst criminal? No thanks, I roll my own."

He produced a rubber pouch and began manipulating the filmy paper. Brabazon tapped his cigaret on his thumb.

"Three months!" he ejaculated presently. "That's a spell of time for you to stop in one locality, isn't it?"

The tall man with the Chinese eyes smiled grimly.

"It is," he admitted. "It means that I'm up against about the toughest proposition I've ever struck. How things up your way?"

"Hotter! I'm thinking of chucking rubber and turning my attention to oil. At present I'm at Keta-tan. Know it?"

Pennington started.

"Keta-tan! That's where Allison was murdered by the Yellow Seven Gang?"

Pennington was staring at a cluster of files on the ceiling.

"You've been a trouble since. No threatening communications?"

"Nothing at all. Dawson rounded up the assassins, they tell me."

"Yes," said the other without enthusiasm. "Dawson did his job and the Commissioner was pleased about it. There were five of the swine, and we caught, tried and executed them with all due pomp and ceremony; but we didn't succeed in getting any information out of 'em. We're no nearer the solution of the Yellow Seven mystery than we were when we started. You say your area's quiet. I'm glad of it. But in almost every other district these gang-murders continue."

Brabazon whistled.

"You'll pardon my ignorance on the subject, I know; but what is this Yellow Seven?"

The boy came in with the drinks Brabazon had ordered, and Pennington smoked until he had disappeared. "The Yellow Seven is a card—like an ordinary Chinese playing-card," he said. "You know the things; as long as my forefinger, with rounded ends, black on one side—and a series of dots on the other—some red, some black."

"And this one?"

"This particular card has a bright yellow face, with seven dots on it, in all-four above a faint line—and three below it. It cropped up some time back, when Lady Stornaway's diamond pendant disappeared from Hewitt's bungalow."

"I remember it," broke in Brabazon. "But the Commissioner got it."

body of the ring-leader—dead or alive?"

"Know who he is?"

"The most respected Chinese gentleman in Borneo," declared the other.

Brabazon dropped into a chair.

"Not Chai-Hung?" he whispered.

"Why not?" demanded Pennington.

"Good Lord! He hangs out within a stone's-throw of us! I'd have staked my last dollar on Mr. Chai-Hung."

Brabazon emptied his glass.

"Why don't you collar him?"

"I've been within an ace of doing so more than a score of times; but he's found a way out each time."

Brabazon felt for another cigaret.

"I ran across him only yesterday," he drawled.

Pennington sprang to his feet.

"You met—Chai-Hung?"

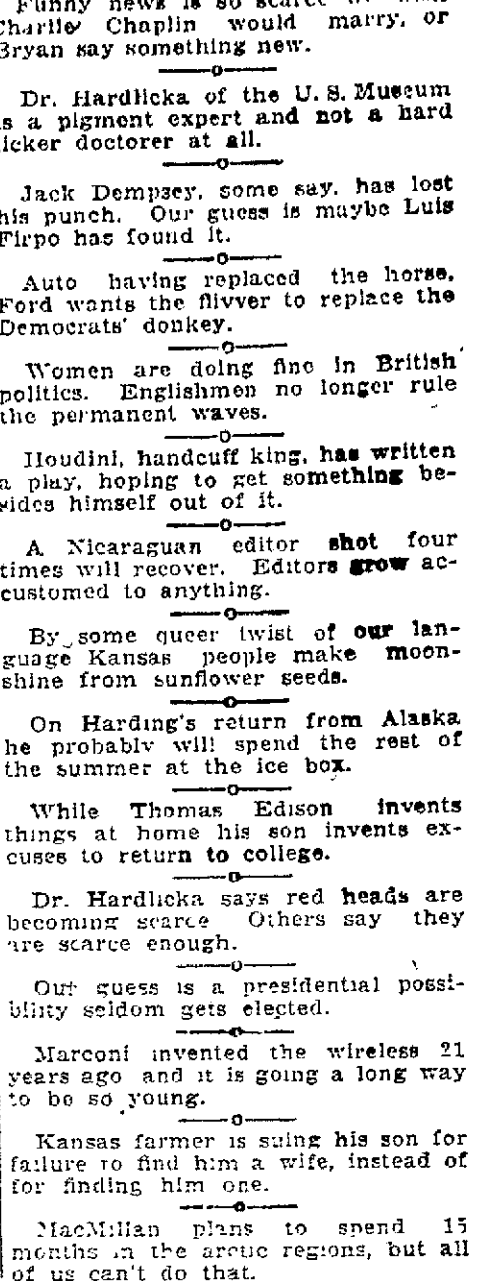

"Certainly! I was up in the Tamul, looking for a pony. I was large with a Rajon thief, when Chai-Hung stroked up. We chatted together for half-an-hour."

"Did he ask which way you were going?" Pennington demanded.

"I fancy he did; but I changed my mind at the last moment and dropped in at the Dutch padre's."

"I'm more than glad you changed your route, old son," Pennington assured him. "Because, if you hadn't, you wouldn't be here now—and, for all your faults, you're one of the few men I shouldn't care to lose sight of."

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

"No, he is not very happy just at present, Paula," I answered. And then I told her about Leslie. Jack told her about Leslie Perler as well as I did while she was listening to Leslie's unhappy story. "Poor, poor woman," she said. "It is I who know it. It is I who sympathize with her, for I know it all have gone. And then without any embarrassment whatever she said, 'My baby—would you like to see him?'"

With that she went into the other room and brought out a little bundle of flannel and lace, and I swear to you, Jack, that as she held it to her breast she looked like the type that all of us conceive when we think of "Mother"—a mother with her first-born. She pulled the little shawl away from the face of the child and I fairly gasped for in his sleep that baby pulled down one corner of his mouth and wrinkled up his nose in exactly the same way you do, Jack. It was uncanny.

"Sweet, never he!" she asked.

Instead of answering, I questioned. "What are you going to do with him? Surely you are not going to take him out to Hollywood with you, are you?"

"But yes, with him I can do nothing else, and he is my baby—just mine alone. I do not have to answer to any one for him but Le Bon Dieu."

I could not help wondering, Jack, if you would have to answer to some good God, or some malignant devil, for that little helpless bit of humanity. If you ever saw him you could tell me that he is a baby—just mine alone. I do not have to answer to any one for him but Le Bon Dieu."

The last time it is, monstrous, that you will see Paula," she said in her sweet little voice. "And for all concerned, thinking I am, there are necessary explanations."

"I'm sure," I said, "that you would tell me."

"I really felt sorry for her. I told her I would come over. For Madame Perler you must ask," she said. "For I have with me 'Paulant'."

It arrived at the hotel and was shown up to Paula's room. I don't know how to tell you, Jack, but she has grown thin and pale. She has lost much of her vivacity, but she has gained immensely in a kind of madonnish grace. I am sure she is going to make a great hit on the screen in a certain type of picture. She told me that she already had an offer from one of the big directors to take a small part in his next picture. "He is French, you know," she said, "and I think he first became interested in me because I spoke the language. At the house of a mutual friend I met him."

And then, Jack, she asked about you. "Is he well?" she asked about you. "Is he well?" she asked about you.

Brabazon's broad face bore an expression of surprise and amusement.

"What's that? My fault?"

Pennington came across the floor and dropped a hand on his friend's shoulder.

"I refer to the woman, God bless 'em," he told him.

"Oh—that!"

"You were positively ogling one when I met you."

Brabazon chuckled.

"When you came up? You don't mean that Malay girl? My dear old idiot, surely a fellow can admire a certain regularity of feature without being called to account for it?"

Pennington laughed.

"You're a terrible man, Brabazon," he said. "I remember a girl in Kuala Lumpur telling me that you were irresistible. How long are you stopping in town?"

"Going back by the morning train."

"I was only going to warn you that, if you do happen to meet the Commissioner's sister, just try and restrain that abnormal flow of personal magnetism—for my sake."

"Oh-ho!" remarked the planter, raising his eyebrows. "What's her name?"

"Viney," said Pennington. "Monte-Viney. She's a widow."

Brabazon winked.

"I thought you said it was Chai-Hung who kept you in Jesselton?"

"It is," Pennington assured him earnestly, "but I'm not sorry about it, all the same!"

"I bet you're not! When's it coming off?"

Pennington gazed dreamily over the rail.

Possibly not at all. I haven't asked her opinion on the subject yet."

"Good heavens, man! What on earth are you waiting for?" Pennington turned.

"I'm waiting until I've nailed Chai-Hung," he declared.

Brabazon scrambled to his feet and joined him.

"Want any help?"

"Possibly."

"Then call on me for it. I'm just about fed up with the life I'm leading. A transferring good row'd about clear my head!"

"Thanks," returned Pennington warmly. "I fancy you'll be in one before long."

"Good enough!"

Brabazon rubbed his hands together in anticipation.

"In the meantime, keep your weather-eye open for Chai-Hung!"

He paused and looked to where the waters of the bay glistened in the light of a sun that was low in the western heavens. "It's a weary world, Brabazon," he continued. "I used to delight in these nocturnal wanderings, these wild up-country treks. I suppose it was because I had nobody to worry about but myself. It's a fancy that I manage to pull this thing through. I shall hand in my resignation. I wonder if you'll understand me. They kidnapped Hewitt and his sister came with me to look for him. A subtle change has crept over me ever since. I find myself a great deal too solicitous about my own welfare. Quaker, isn't it? Cheerio!"

Brabazon went back to Keta-tan by the morning train. He had not seen Pennington since their meeting at the Rest-house, but he had run into a lively crowd of brother-planters and Government men, and the climax of the "celebration" that followed had been something in the nature of a disaster! A dull throbbing at his temples reminded him of this.

Brabazon was a planter, an experienced one. He knew just how much a coolie could be expected to do in a day. As he went the rounds on his Rajon pony he encountered nothing but valued insolence, and tasks half done.

It was close on sun-down when he regained his bungalow. He stumbled up the steps and dropped into a cane chair. He was wondering who it was that had served the meals of rebellion in the mind of his man.

By sheer force of habit, he reached for his glass and, as he did so, something passed his cheek so closely that he felt the wind of it, and stuck, quivering, in the wooden wall behind him.

CHINA PLAYING WITH WAR FIRE

BY RODERICK MATTHESON.
(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
TOKIO, July 25.—Chinese persistence in the matter of the organized boycott of the Japanese, which is supported by local officials who disregard consular protests, is leading to the impression that China is playing with the flames of war. While the Japanese efforts are confined so far to protests and entreaties to China to enforce the issue, matters are so drifting that the Japanese government will soon be unable to remain quiescent.

The press is now suggesting war as the only way of bringing China to her senses but in no quarter does Japan show anger, only exasperation at the manner in which China is flouting the Japanese treaty of rights. Chinese mobs are forcing merchants to cease buying from Japan, destroying Japanese goods wherever found, forcing dealers not to sell to the Japanese nor to travel nor to ship goods by Japanese steamers. A Japanese crew, shipwrecked on the upper Yangtze, were refused food.

CAPTURE LAUNCH
AND 21 CASES
OF WOOD SCOTCH

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
NEW YORK, July 25.—Sanction of the use of solid shot and shell by revenue boats in fighting rum runners and news that England may agree to a 12 mile liquor control limit were today's thorns cast in the path of the wary bootlegger. Commanded by Ensign L. Reed, who handles the patrol of the Long Island and New Jersey coasts, issued orders for the sinking of bootlegger vessels at the three mile mark in case they fire first. The orders resulted from last night's experience of the cutter Seminole when out on patrol, Captain Ahearn of the Seminole sent off a small boat to search a launch lying alongside the British rum boat Thorndyke. A voice on the Thorndyke directed the crew to get guns and shells ready. The cutter's men roped the launch which contained 21 cases of Scotch and made off in the dark to their ship unharmed. No shots were fired. Captain Ahearn reported more than twenty rum runners on the bootleg ships parking space, spread out so that it takes a 24 mile voyage to circumnavigate them.

N. C. KU KLUX
NOT TO SECEDE

(By The Associated Press.)
RALEIGH, N. C., July 25.—Two of the highest officials in the Ku Klux Klan in North Carolina in a statement to the Associated Press tonight said published reports relative to the secession of a number of North Carolina Klaverns from the Atlanta organization "are absolutely unfounded." The question of secession was not even discussed, said one of the officers, but in view of the published reports of some dissatisfaction in North Carolina a rising vote of confidence in Dr. H. W. Evans imperial wizard, and his official staff was adopted without a dissenting vote. Officers were elected for the ensuing year but their names were not made public.

To Make Life Sweeter Carry
Gas Mask To Phone Booth

THREE NEW GAS MASKS, THE ALL-PURPOSE MASK (LEFT); NEW TYPE (CENTER) SHOWING CANISTER CARRIED UNDER ARM INSTEAD OF BEING STRAPPED TO CHEST AND THE MCBRIDE COMMUNICATING MASK.

BY JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
(Special to The Bee.)
NEW YORK, July 25.—An all-around gas mask, useful for civilian purposes, that can be hung up behind the kitchen door and taken down when needed has just been announced by the Army Chemical Warfare Service.

This handy little article weighs only five pounds and is just the thing to keep around the house for emergencies. It is necessary to go down to the corner drug store to use the telephone booth? Take along your gas mask. Its special construction will not only enable you to talk through it perfectly but will at the same time keep out the fumes of tobacco, bootleg liquor, chewing gum, and white rose toilet water left in the booth by previous occupants.

Has your neighbor cleaned house and elected to make a choice of one of the year's collection of old rubbers? Get out your gas masks, fit them on the children. They can go on with their game of parchesi, you can read your evening paper, and life will flow (and smell) as sweetly as before.

For dusting, cleaning, riding in the subway, repairing the automobile, there's hardly any civilian purpose to which this newest invention of the army cannot be put. An added feature is that the canister part is no longer worn on the chest but may be tucked under the arm with no more trouble than is expended on those little red vanity cases that the girls carry with them when they're going forth to make a killing.

The army department issues only one warning. The mask cannot be worn in any atmosphere that will not maintain a safety lamp flame.

For very special purposes, such as fumigating ships and performing other functions for the public health service, a second type of mask has been developed.

A third type has been evolved for city firemen and police. It is known as the McBride communicating mask, is self-contained, valveless, and since it has no appendages it is also valuable for men working in gun turrets, boiler rooms and submarines.

JULY CONTRACT
COLLAPSE AFFORD A SENSATION

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 25.—Not in several years has there been such a sensational collapse in the premium of a current month as that which culminated today in a 140 point break in July cotton contracts which forced them down at one time to 22 50 or five points under the level at which new crop October contracts were selling.

Only a few weeks ago the July delivery was apparently in a strong position at a premium of 375 points over October and at which time it was presumably reflecting a strong world's statistical position which has since materially weakened by reason of mill curtailment and dullness in cotton goods.

The immediate reason for today's violent break was the delivery by holders of the local stock of 15,000 bales on July contracts. It is reported that part of the cotton thus delivered may shortly find its way to Liverpool where stocks are abnormally low. With July out of the way, new crops months responded vigorously to reports of high temperature and hot winds in the southwest and closed 20 to 55 points net higher.

WOULD MAKE WAR A CRIME

NEW YORK, July 25.—The International No More War Demonstration Committee announced yesterday that Justice Florence E. Allen, of the Ohio Supreme Court, one of the few women jurists in the country on so high a bench, had endorsed the committee's program for outlawing war by declaring it a crime, as murder is declared a crime in the case of individuals, Justice Allen said: "The use of war as a means of settling international disputes can be abolished in just the same way as the use of killing was abolished in settling private disputes by making war illegal, just as murder was made illegal. This will inevitably be done if the moral feeling of the race is expressed."

The committee made public a letter from F. W. Jowett, a British labor leader, in which he expressed the hope that English-speaking race would stand together in determination to abolish war.

HIS ICE JOB IS CAUSE OF
MUCH TROUBLE

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
CHICAGO, July 25.—This is the story of an ectoplasm that scaled off, and has to do with the vicissitudes of Edgar Jones, a person of color, whose occupation is peddling ice. Mistah Jones was attempting to deliver a ten pound block of ice at the residence of Mistah U. G. Kaye, also colored, who lived in one of those in-a-bedlam apartments. The portable stove does a valiant duty on top of the improvised icebox and in trying to place the ten pounds of ice, Mistah Jones upset a skillet of peas, the piece de resistance of the Kaye supper.

Between the scalding hot peas and the application of a rolling pin in the hands of Missus Kaye, Mistah Jones emerged at the small end of the horn.

Some one telephoned his wife, trying to tell her that his head had been injured, but she understood the message to say he was dead, whereupon she hung up the receiver and hiked for the life insurance office. Matrimony is such an uncertain thing at best.

Meanwhile a sympathizing neighbor had plastered the bruised head of Mistah Jones with a preparation that turned a dazzling white as it dried, and he arrived at his home in the dusk, when the gaslights were flickering.

His wife took one look at the white apparition and fainted away, a 250 pound giant across the threshold. A policeman rushed in and began using his club on Mistah Jones without asking any question. The prostrate wife revived and took another look at him.

"Why his Edgah, he ain't no Ghos' whuffo 'o' all heatin' up mah husband," she demanded, as she drove the policeman from the building and sent a neighbor to tell the insurance people the stuff was all over.

ALUMNI SOON TO ORGANIZE
TRAINING CAMP

CHICAGO, July 25.—The ground work for an alumni society that bids fair to be the largest in the United States in the course of time, is being laid by those who are organizing and preparing to conduct the Citizens Military Training Camps in the various states this year.

The announcement of the Alumni Society's organization says:

"The men who attended the first voluntary camps in 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916 pointed in forming the Military Training Camps Association of the United States, and this is the real alumni society of all who believe in the 'Plattsburg Idea' of General Leonard Wood, and who have been trained in the citizens' camps."

"This year the men in each camp are invited to meet themselves as a part of the national organization, to be known as the Citizens Military Training Camps Alumni."

In order to make this effective the candidates from each county will select their own captain. These, in turn, will select their own state captain and these state captains will, in turn, select a corps area captain. Captains will be issued to each county company, but the real organization of the Alumni body will take place at the camps during this summer.

SHIPPING BOARD
WANT DEVIATE
FROM POLICY

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
WASHINGTON, July 25.—The United States Shipping Board will not deviate from its previously announced policy of aggressively pursuing direct government operation of the ships of the Emergency Fleet Corporation if the ships can not be sold—and little hope is held out for sales. This was definitely established today when, after an all day session, the board decided it could not adopt the proposal of the American steamship owners association for operation of the government fleet, and Chairman Farley announced that the board hoped to make a definite statement as to the direct operation plan soon.

The plan submitted "proposes" that the United States Shipping Board deliver to the steamship operating companies the needed vessels to maintain service on the present established routes for the absolute control of the operating company without board supervision that the United States Shipping Board pay the expenses of the operator and in addition pay all of any losses that would be incurred in such operation, all profits to be set aside in a special fund for the use of the steamship operator to buy ships from the shipping board, without obligation as to future service on the routes.

The board hopes to be able shortly to make a definite statement of the plan for direct operation, on which it is working. In considering a plan, the board is prompted by a desire to establish the highest efficiency, the maximum economy and the preservation of the good will reflected in the establishment of various trade routes on the seas, which good will is under the present system and the plan proposed by the American steamship owners association, as asset that would inure to a few, although paid for by the government.

AWARDED WRIT OF ERROR

RICHMOND, Va., July 25.—The supreme court of appeals Monday awarded a writ of error and supersedeas to M. J. Boggs, who complains of the action of the circuit court of Buckingham county in giving judgment against him for $7,790 in favor of the administrator of the estate of one Bower.

It was charged in the suit that Bower died intestate, leaving a personal estate amounting to $14,970, mostly in money and U. S. Bonds, and named Boggs as his sole executor. It was further charged that Boggs refused to qualify as executor, but took charge of the estate. Practically all of this is denied by Boggs.

RECONSTRUCTED
RIVER ADDS SIX MILES TO DOCKS

(By The Associated Press.)
DETROIT, July 25.—The River Rouge, site of the great blast furnaces of the Ford Motor Company, has been initiated to deep draft vessels. For years a lazy twisting stream, the river has been developed as an artery of the Detroit River at the behest of the Ford interests.

To permit the great ore carriers of the lakes to bring their cargoes direct to the blast furnaces, the river has been reconstructed, instead of the twisting stream of former years a new River Rouge has been created. From the mouth of the Detroit River to the Ford turning basin the stream is three miles long, almost two miles shorter than the old course, and the average width along the dock lines is 300 feet, with a bottom width of 200 feet. The depth at low water is 21 feet.

A new canal, 3,000 feet long, was cut through the entire subdivision of property, avoiding an "S" turn where the river joins the harbor. Some 15 industries in addition to the Ford blast furnaces are operating along the banks of the Rouge, and with the improvement just completed six miles of docking facilities have been added to Detroit's waterfront. Heretofore the industries located at the Rouge have attracted an annual cargo tonnage of 2,000,000. The Ford plant alone expects to bring in 2,000,000 tons during 1923. The total cost of the new Rouge in clearing, dredging, and right of way is estimated at $10,000,000.

INGRAM RULES ON "BLUE LAWS"

(By The Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 25.—Holding that selling merchandise on Sunday resolved itself into a question of moral fitness rather than a question of physical necessity, Justice Ingram dismissed a local restaurateur in police court on charges of violating the "Blue Laws" by selling soft drinks on the Sabbath. The justice serviced notice that similar cases would fare the same way in the future.

Justice Ingram confined his ruling to the question of a restaurateur with proper license to sell food and indicated that his decision in other cases would not depend upon the precedent in this instance. He held that the restaurateur holding the proper license for selling food on Sunday did not violate the law by selling soft drinks and cigars also. In expressing his opinion the judge declared that for a man already at work dispensing food it was not morally unfit to sell other articles of habitual consumption. The ruling was based on two recent opinions by the Supreme Court of appeals.

HARDING PARTY
STOPS IN B. C.

(By The Associated Press.)

ON BOARD U. S. S. HENDERSON WILL PRESIDENT HARDING: July 25.—The canal transport Henderson with President Harding and his party aboard anchored off Campbell River, British Columbia at 1 o'clock today. Favored by good weather, the Henderson was ahead of its schedule.

Two planes with the president and members of his party proceeded to Campbell Lake. Other parties are in launches off the mouth of the Campbell, fishing for king salmon. The party will be here until evening. The entire population has gone to Duncan Bay in boats, or is at the wharf. The weather superb.

The Henderson will make a leisurely run tonight down the Strait of Georgia, and tomorrow will steam into Vancouver harbor to allow the presidential party to go ashore for a ten hours stay on Canadian soil. The newspaper correspondent were jubilant over prospects of victory in the shuffle board tournament which has been in progress since the Henderson left Sitka. Three out of four finalists, who contest today for team honors, are newspaper men, the President and Secretaries Hoover, Work and Wallace having fallen by the wayside in the second and third round matches yesterday.

The president and his partner went out in the second round, defeated by secretary Work and his partner.

The president will work on addresses he will deliver on the Pacific coast. He has completed his San Francisco address, which will be devoted to discussion of foreign relations, including the world court and the accomplishment of the Washington arms conference.

NATION OWES ADVANCEMENT TO SUNDAY SCHOOLS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 25.—America owes much of her moral and civic advancement to the 193,000 Sunday schools, which are attended weekly by more than twenty-one million people, Rev. E. J. Vance of Nashville, Tenn., told the Baptist World Alliance tonight. Fifty thousand of these Sunday schools are Baptist with an enrollment of nearly five millions, including more than one million adults.

Pirates Win Two; Dempsey And Firpo To Fight

THE SAME OLD BENNY

By Burriss Jenkins Jr.

THE INSIDE RIGHT UPPERCUT WAS THE WHICH BENNY HAD PLANNED TO WIN WITH—AND IT DID!

BENNY LEONARD'S FIRST BLOW!

"FROM MY HEART, A BETTER MAN THAN I AM," BENNY SAID, AS HE WENT AT THE FINISH.

THE 11TH LEONARD SCORED A DRAW.

Grandstand Gaff

It "wouldn't" hurt so bad if they had only won in the ninth, but after that sensational rally it sure put a damper on the grandstand.

Alexander might have been right on the Regan decision at the plate and it is all over now, but it should be fair warning to umpires hereafter to keep a point on their eyesight when Regan is in a mile of any base for there's going to be quick action and it will take speedy seeing.

The sport of the local hitters up to the ninth was on the manner of a bull weevil in a gas barrage—hard to find.

Perhaps if someone should have informed Lee Gooch that long-distance hitting records were not desirable here he would have saved that ball he lost over right field fence. As far as Danville fans are concerned, he can keep his drives for the Wineson park, where a record is certain once the horseshoe peers over the railings. Carr Smith, known as "Crazy," probably because he is so dangerous with the stick, smashed himself in the giant Gooch's class by driving one the out using Twin fence yesterday.

The dozen-notched contest was featured more than anything else by the fielding of the two clubs. Both inner works displaying some brilliant baseball.

The game was worth anyone's long green, but more will be back today, if for nothing else than to inform Messrs. Alexander and Gooch, as to their decisions of yesterday, which might be said, were not considered 100 per cent. perfect by anyone of the 1,500 present. Apparently bad decisions can be overlooked at times, but they are hard to forget when the deciding points of a game.

When Bill Leard stepped to the plate yesterday afternoon in his first appearance in Stonewall park in a Danville uniform he was given a reception by the grandstand and bleachers that should make the heart of any ball player glad. The applause was not only expressing kind feeling toward the newcomer but an appreciation of fandom for Herb Murphy's efforts in building up a winning team by annexing such valuable players.

The defeat slipped Danville back into second place while the Bulls climbed back to first. Only six points separate the two clubs and today's game will either eliminate the difference or make it larger—Elimination is expected.

Carr Smith has a near rival as a dangerous hitter in the fellow Long of the Twins. His average so far this week no doubt establishes a record for that length of time. It was reported only a few days since that Long was charged with playing in different ball. No doubt he was, and ing to the Twins' status at that time, but with a club that has perked up considerably, Long has braced up more than any other player.

Cincinnati's slump that seems to be puzzling all the critics has put a damper on the Reddian fans. Yesterday's defeat, which, by the way, was Luque's first in eight starts, put them back on an even basis with the Pirates. How things do turn over in the favorite national pastime. Only a few short weeks ago the Pirates had such a grip on second place that the experts couldn't see how the Reds would ever budge them—but they did. Then the same experts said Pittsburgh had punctured her last bubble of pennant hopes and would slowly sink on down the line—Now they're back on a tie for second place. Such switches combined might make the Giants uneasy, which seems to be an impossible act.

The contest in the Piedmont loop is just about as interesting, even to an outsider. A new contender for second half honors bobs up near every day. Last week it was High Point. The first of this week, Durham. Yesterday, Danville. Today, Durham. Tomorrow, most anything in the circuit.

Biff Butts, the Bulls' valuable center gardener, and former Sally league star, is a dangerous looking article both afield and with the timber, but for speed Eddie Regan will run rings around the stocky little outfielder. Moreover, the entire Virginia outfield bows to few superiors, if any, in the circuit.

The Bulls romped in our pasture yesterday—Let's give them the gate today.

STRENGTH OF ARMY BELOW DANGER MARK

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The shrinkage in the regular army has gone away beyond the danger mark, leaving a mere shell of a fighting force. Worse than this the reduction is rapidly increasing.

The actual strength of the army today is only 112,000 men, 13,000 less than the compromise authorized strength forced by the little army men in congress. A decision in the face of the administration's warnings. Of this meager force, 74,000 men are slated for separation from the service during the next fiscal year through expiration of service. Of these, fully 30,000 men are due to leave the service before January 1. Limited funds provided by congress for recruiting make the problem of filling their places an extremely difficult one.

PITTSBURGH TAKES TWO;

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—Pittsburgh went into a tie with Cincinnati for second place today when they defeated Boston in both games of a double header, winning the first 5 to 2, and the second 10 to 3. In the first game Adams held the Braves safe until the sixth inning when a home run by Flix was followed by doubles by Southworth and McInnis, accounting for all their runs.

The Pirates rallied in the seventh, when Russell opened with a triple followed by hits by Traynor, Maranville, Grimm, Schmidt and Adams for four runs.

In the second game Pittsburgh scored six runs in the first and four in the second inning but were held scoreless the remainder of the way. Traynor hit a home run in the second game.

BROOKLYN WINS OVER CINCINNATI, 6 TO 3.

CINCINNATI, July 25.—Brooklyn pulled Cincinnati back into a tie with Pittsburgh for second place by winning the first game of the series from the local team today 6 to 3. Luque, who had won seven straight pitched invincibly until the seventh when 3 hits and a pass enabled the visitors to tie the score. In the 8th Brooklyn found the Cuban for four hits which with a wild throw by Caveney gave them four runs and an easy victory.

Vance pitched fine ball, scoring his sixth straight victory.

Greensboro Takes First of Series

GREENSBORO, July 25.—Driving out four home runs in the eighth inning Greensboro barely tossed out High Point here today 10 to 3.

The game was hard fought, both teams hitting about on par until the slugfest in the eighth. McWhorter, and Crews twirled creditable ball although a total of 23 hits were made.

In the eighth, Dave Harris, first up, hit out left field fence, and Crews, next at bat repeated; Shay flew out; Pierre walked and was caught off second; O'Hara banged one out for the circuit as did Conley, next up, making a total of four four-base walks in one frame with six men on base. The feat, which was an unusual one in this circuit and elsewhere, led by one run High Point's four tallies in the ninth.

The Pointers four runs in the ninth came from three singles and a double.

Greensboro chalked up six in the second on two doubles, three singles, three bases on balls, a hit batsman and an error.

Meekin's homer for High Point came in the second with none on.

The fielding of Dave Harris, substitute for Tague, featured.

NEW YORK. — [Special.] — Babe Ruth is reaching—or rather slugging—out for a fresh wreath of laurel. With every indication pointing to his regaining home run honors taken away from him last year by Rogers Hornsby, slugging Cardinal, Babe is striving to lead the league in hitting, and at the pace he has been going, it looks as if this ambition would be realized.

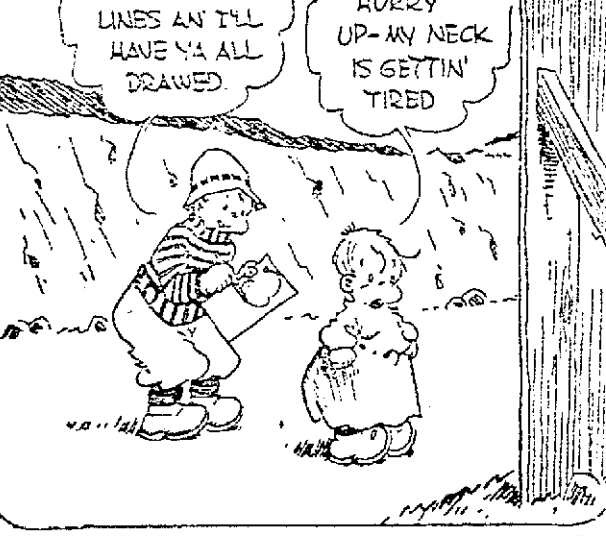

At present he is only two home runs behind Cy Williams, Philadelphia outfielder, who is topping the league with twenty-three. Last year at this time Babe had fourteen, but was out of the game for thirty days because of his suspension by Judge Landis. Hornsby topped the home run hitters with forty-two. Babe finished fourth with thirty-five. Ken Williams with thirty-nine, and Tilly Walker with thirty-seven. With this season more than half over, it is not likely that Babe will surpass his record of fifty-nine made two years ago, but he has a chance, to top Hornsby's mark of last year.

But in hitting Babe is shining this year. He is only 17 points behind Harry Heilmann, the Detroit outfielder, who is leading the American league with a percentage of .280. A week ago Heilmann had a percentage of .407, and Babe was in fourth place with a percentage of .365. In a week Babe has jumped from fourth to second place and gained 25 points on Heilmann.

The human body, although more delicate than any other machine is the most neglected. Why not treat your body with as much respect as you treat an engine or automobile?

Do You Know?

Three out of four people need some kind of health advice or medical care. Two-thirds of the physical defects in people are preventable. Why not prevent them? Two people in every hundred have tuberculosis. Often they do not know it until too late. A medical examination would have told them.

An Examination.

1. Will tell you that you are in good condition and have no cause to worry.

2. It will discover conditions you know nothing about as yet but which will cause suffering if allowed to develop. These conditions can usually be corrected if discovered early.

3. It will find conditions of bad health which need medical attention.

Results Will Be

1. You will prevent sickness and therefore save time and money.

2. Your health will be improved and you will feel better.

Have your family physician make a thorough examination and advise you "How to Keep Well."

or

Come to the Health Department, opposite the postoffice, on Wednesday at 2 p. m. for examination. A report will be sent to your physician.

CONTESTANTS FOR GOLF MATCH DOWN TO 18 NOW

(By The Associated Press)

MAYFIELD COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 25.—Two fast 18 hole rounds of match play today reduced the contestants for the western amateur golf championship to 18 players, including Chick Evans of Chicago, defending champion, who will meet Fred Lamprecht, of Cleveland, in the third round and Jess Sweetzer of New York, national amateur champion, who will cross cleeks with Dexter Cummings, of Chicago.

Three extra hole matches marked today's play, Cummings winning a 20 hole contest in the forenoon from Harold Weber, of Toledo, while in the afternoon Clarence Wolf required 20 holes to down John G. Anderson of New York and Joe Wells of East Liverpool, Ohio, took 19 holes to eliminate Eddie Held of St. Louis, trans-Mississippi champion and did so then only by holing a 45 foot putt for a birdie three. Wolf and Wells measure matches tomorrow.

The other third round match is between Ira Couch of Chicago, who furnished the greatest upset of the day by trouncing Captain E. F. Carter of Chicago, formerly Irish champion and favorite for the final two and one, and W. H. Gardner, of Buffalo, who rather unexpectedly ousted James Manion, of St. Louis, 2 and 1.

Evans had the easiest time of all the 32 play, who started this morning. He breezed out in 34, two under par, in the first round and was one under perfect figures in the remaining five holes he needed to defeat James Ward, of Kansas City, five and four. In the afternoon, Chick took 23 to go out and was one under par for the remaining four holes he used to down Ellsworth Augustus, a phenomenal driver of Cleveland, six and five.

Old Man Jinx certainly has been hot on the Tigers' trail. But practically every other team in the big leagues is having its troubles, too.

HELP TO KEEP HOSPITALS GOING

DETROIT, July 25.—Illness and injuries have played no little part in both major league races this season. The hospital list, indeed, has been an extremely large one. Even more so than in other years.

And while most of the ailments have been more or less of a minor nature, still they have been serious enough to keep players out of the game for quite lengthy intervals with the usual moral and psychological effect of a team.

Perhaps the Detroit club has been one of the hardest hit. Player after player on the Tigers' roster has been forced out of the lineup through some cause or other. One cripple has

The REFEREE

By ALBERT APPLE

WIGS
Bruno Leo Schilling, hairdresser, who claims he selects the toupees for the elder John D. Rockefeller, returns from Europe with this news: So many wig makers were killed in Germany and France, during the war, that wig making has become a highly exclusive profession.

Judging from the amount of time devoted to care of the hair, especially by women, this is important news. Hair is the most stubborn survivor of the vanity inherited from long generations of savage ancestors. If we were truly sanitary, and less vain, we'd all keep our heads clipped or shaved. The theory that bald headedness is an indication of superior civilization, probably was started by a bald-headed man who either had a sense of humor or was kidding himself.

CANDY
Most of us have a different notion, but prohibition has caused any big boom in the candy business. So claims Edward C. Clark, president of National Confectionery Sales men's Association.

Clark, after wearing out an adding machine, finds that three-fifths of the candy eaten by Americans is consumed by children, as penny purchases.

ANNA BRADFORD'S GIRL VICTOR IN THE SWEEPSTAKES

(By The Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—The champion sweepstakes for three-year-old pacers, the feature event of today's grand circuit card, resulted in a victory for Anna Bradford's Girl, although she was not a straight heat winner. Kinney Silk won the final mile after Anna Bradford's Girl had gone into a break.

The most exciting race of the afternoon proved to be the Shepard and Swisher $5,000 stake for 2:11 trotters which resulted in the first defeat of the season for Pearl Benbow, the trotter for which Tommy Murphy recently paid $25,000.

Pearly Benbow was not only beaten but also failed to win a single heat. This event, a four heat struggle, was won by Bogalusa, owned by Walter T. Carder, of Atlanta, Ga., which won the second and fourth heats. Bogalusa' chances were considered so slight that not a single ticket was sold on him in the result book.

"Magnus" Will Remain Dirt Farmer While In Senate

MAGNUS JOHNSON, senator-elect from Minnesota, promises to be the most interesting political personality in many years. The accompanying article is the concluding one of a short series started yesterday in which the reader is "taken" to the Johnson farm, and "talks" with "Magnus," as he likes to be called.

Johnson will be in the Washington limelight from the moment he steps off the train at the Union Station in the capital until he leaves. That's certain. Readers throughout the country will want to know all there is to know about this Minnesota "dirt-farmer," who, single-handed, whipped a strong regular party candidate. These articles are designed to acquaint the people of the country with the "man" Johnson. Woven in are expressions of his political faith, no less interesting.

BY GEORGE BRITT
(Special to The Bee.)

KINGSTON, Minn., July 26.—Magnus Johnson is a dirt farmer. That fact, in the light of the present wheat price of less than a dollar a bushel, explains the political philosophy of the farmer, although the dwellers of the state emphasize his honesty and independence as reasons why they gave him their vote.

ures of Magnus around the farm, appeared repeatedly for smiles. The response was merely a formal show of teeth until the photographer hit upon a new method.

LOVE VICTOR.
"We beat Preuss anyway, didn't we?" shouted the photographer, and Magnus spontaneously flashed back a high power grin. (He asks folk to call him by his first name.)

"Golly, we beat that fellow," he exulted. "Jake is finished. He'll never come back."

As to his legislative program, Magnus Johnson is in favor of a government guarantee of a minimum wheat price, in favor of a special session of Congress to take up farm relief measures and for a soldiers' bonus to be paid from profits of the wealthy.

He wishes the federal reserve banking system to adopt a more liberal policy of rural credits and he is eager to have repealed the Eads-Cummins railroad act. His record in the state legislature shows him in favor of prohibition.

When it comes to leadership, Magnus naturally prefers that of La Follette and Brookhart to President Harding's.

The present administration has been a failure, so far as doing anything for the people is concerned, he says. "The president has been telling me, 'I don't know what he said, because I have been too busy to read the papers.' But I know the farmers aren't making a living."

"Who is your choice for president next time?" one asks. "Henry Ford, La Follette, or who?"
